

Tom Smith

Experienced Full Stack Web Developer

UK based developer who's been making successful websites commercially for more than 15 years. I normally work on a contract basis, with a preference for working remotely.

Reliable, flexible and a fast learner, who can jump into projects at any stage and slot seamlessly into a team.

More about me

In addition to making dozens of successful websites, I've advised major charities and trade groups on digital strategy, appeared on BBC radio a few times, rebranded a PLC, content audited an exemplar GDS service, been a fearsome cake judge at baking competitions and was a semi-pro gamer... unfortunately, before that sort of thing was cool.
